ACQUITTAL FOR EASTMAN

Rutland Man After a Long Trial on Perjury Charge Has Been Set Free

JURY VERDICT OF NOT GUILTY

Genuineness of a Disputed Document Is Materially Helped by Verdict

Rutland, April 10.—After taking only about four actual working hours to consider the evidence introduced through 98 witnesses in a trial lasting over four weeks, a Rutland county jury yesterday returned a verdict finding George P. Eastman of this city not guilty of the charge of perjury. The state had alleged that he gave false testimony last October in a civil case in which the Vermont Marble company was the other party in litigation. The present case went to the jury at 5:30 o'clock Tuesday evening and the verdict was made known by Frank Buckingham of Poultney, the foreman, at 10:10 o'clock yesterday morning. Mr. Eastman was immediately discharged.

It is considered that this verdict proves the authenticity of a disputed document, of great value to Eastman, which has figured prominently in the case as, in his charge, Judge Leighton P. Slack stated that if the jurors found the paper genuine the decision would automatically free Mr. Eastman of the first three charges in the indictment against him.

The paper, which deals with an option on certain marble quarrying property, situated between the Vermont Marble company and Eastman holdings at West Rutland, was produced by Eastman as new evidence in his civil case with the Vermont Marble company, after the controversy had been in the Vermont supreme court. The document, which contains a 25-year agreement, was found by Ernest H. O'Brien, it is claimed, among old papers belonging to the late Attorney Joel C. Baker, three months before the date of its expiration. Much of the evidence of the perjury case had to do with this paper and experts along various lines, as well as scores of others, testified as to the genuineness of their own signatures and those of prominent business and professional men, which appear on the document.

The prosecuting attorneys in the perjury case were Attorney General Frank C. Archibald of Manchester and W. R. Austin of Burlington. Attorneys John W. Gordon of Barre, M. G. Leary of Burlington and J. C. Jones of Rutland defended Mr. Eastman.

Mr. Leary, who is attorney for Ernest H. O'Brien, who is under indictment for alleged perjury in connection with the disputed document in the Eastman case, has asked for immediate trial. The date has not been fixed.

HALE AND EDWARDS SIDE BY SIDE IN PARADE

Both Will Head Division on April 25, When Men March in Boston.

Boston, April 10.—Major Generals Harry Hale and Clarence R. Edwards, present and former commander of the Yankee division, will ride side by side at the head of the divisional parade in this city on April 25. Escorting the two commanders will be members of their present or former staffs who saw service with the division in France. In announcing the plans yesterday, General Edwards said that former members now assigned to other units or no longer in the service had been invited to participate.

Following each unit in the line of march will be the honorably discharged members of the unit and others who may have been relieved because of wounds, but have recovered sufficiently to parade. Each regiment and each of the provisional companies of former members will carry banners with the name of the organization. Each unit will also carry its colors with streamers bearing in gold letters the names of the battles in which it participated. Automobiles will be provided for wounded men not able to march. A big German howitzer will be hauled in the parade, as a "sample" of the 250 cannon captured by the Yankees.

Near the head of the line will be a large gold star, mounted on a motor car and with honor, carried as a memorial for the division's dead, numbering more than 2,000, of whom 1,700 were killed in battle.

TO KEEP BOLSHIEVIKI OUT.

Chinese Government Sends Troops to Border.

Peking, Friday April 4 (By the Associated Press).—In contravention of the Russo-Chinese treaty, which is now regarded as having lapsed, the government has sent 500 Chinese troops to Urga and a similar number to Khabarovsk, and it is indicated that additional men may be sent later. The Russian legation has presented a note to the government protesting against this dispatch of Chinese troops into outer Mongolia. The government is still apprehensive of bolshevik incursions, agents of the Russian soviet regime being reported to have established recruiting stations in Turkistan. Officials at Shanghai have been ordered to exercise vigilance to prevent the entry of bolsheviks, who are said to be coming into the country through that port.

The People Who Work With Swift & Company

Big Business is usually pictured in the public mind as a huge, soulless machine. As a matter of fact, it is just a collection of human beings like you.

Without boasting and simply to give the public an idea of the human side of Swift & Company, we publish the following facts:

The lowest rate of wages paid to men has been increased voluntarily and by arbitration 167 per cent in the past three years; the wages of all packing-house labor have been increased an average of 125 per cent.

There is an Employees' Benefit Association (voluntary) providing disability and death benefits for a small weekly payment. Sick allowances are granted in times of illness, and pensions for disability and old age are provided without expense to the employee.

Under a two year time payment plan 4,000 employees have become shareholders in Swift & Company.

Company physicians attend employees needing their help at the plant and at home, without charge.

More than 1,500 of the 7,500 men who left to join the army and navy have returned to their jobs, and jobs are waiting for the others as soon as they return.

At the general office in Chicago, every boy is given an hour's schooling daily on company time, such work being accredited by the high school authorities in securing a two year commercial course diploma.

A summer home is maintained at Fish Lake, Indiana, near Chicago, where women plant employees may spend their vacations, without cost.

Swift & Company is co-operating with other employers to improve living conditions around the stock yards.

More and more thought and attention are being given to the opportunity and responsibilities presented in a big industry to improve working conditions and to raise living standards.

These are beginnings of a broad, constructive program, details of which are now being worked out by the Employees' Relations Committee of Swift & Company.

URGED TO BUY COAL.

Chicago People Are Told Prices Cannot Be Lowered.

Chicago, April 9.—Retail prices for anthracite coal in Chicago are from $1.00 to $1.95 a ton higher than a year ago, while bituminous coal is selling from 21 to 30 cents a ton higher than last April. Despite the prevailing high prices, consumers are being urged through an advertising campaign of coal dealers to buy their next winter's supply of fuel now in order to save money.

Beginning May 1, 10 cents a ton will be added to the price of anthracite coal each month up to Sept. 1, when a mean further increase of 50 cents a ton, before next fall.

Dealers explain that the high prices are due to increases in labor, freight, cartage and other items included in the cost of production and handling. They declare that prices cannot be lowered until these costs are reduced, and there are no prospects that they will be lowered in the near future.

Despite the high prices, Chicago dealers say there has been an enormous reduction in the volume of production.

Last April the prices for these grades of anthracite coal were as follows:

Grate, $0.85; egg, $0.75; range, $1.00; while the present prices for the same grades are: $1.10, $1.00 and $1.10.

A year ago mine run bituminous coal sold here for $5.69 and lump, egg and nut for $6.14. This year prices for the same grades are $6.65 and $6.35.

Coal dealers declare that their profits are less to-day than they were a year ago.

While the coal business is no longer under control of the federal government,

How a Father Has Learned to Save Shoe Bills.

"My son is very hard on shoes, so keeping him properly shod has been quite an expense to me," writes Mr. J. Allison Allen, of Amity, Arkansas. "But since I started to buy Neolin-soled shoes for him I have found that it costs only about a third as much to keep him in shoes."

This is because Neolin Soles are so tough and durable that they wear a very long time. Shoe bills are kept down because you don't need so many pairs.

You can get Neolin-soled shoes at almost any good shoe store. They come in all styles and for all members of the family. Neolin Soles are also available everywhere for re-soles.

They are produced by a scientific process to be what shoes ought to be: comfortable, waterproof and long-wearing. They are made by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels, guaranteed to outwear any other heels.

the government authorities, it is known, are following the policy of insisting upon prices at the mine sufficiently high so that the present scale of wages for miners shall not be jeopardized. This policy, it is said, was clearly indicated in recent instructions issued to the railroad administration for the purchase of fuel.

Fred W. Upham, president of the Consumers' company, said to be the largest retail coal dealer in the United States, in discussing the question of prices to-day, said:

"The prevailing high prices are due to increased cost of labor, freight, cartage and other items that make up the cost of production and handling. I do not see how prices can be lowered until the items of costs are reduced, and this is not in sight."

"The price we pay for coal at the mine is fixed, the cost of freight and labor is fixed, and our margin of profit for handling is limited."

TO REMOVE SOOT.

Application of Common Salt to Fires Is Recognized by Fuel Administration.

The United States fuel administration, through Harold Almeri, director of conservation, has issued the following advice to the owners of hot air, hot water and steam plants on how to remove soot and tar from the heating surface, smoke pipes and chimneys:

"Get the fire into good condition, so that the fuel bed is bright or incandescent, and on the hottest part of the fire spread several handfuls of salt; then close the door and open the drafts. Common salt, either of the table variety or fine grain rock salt, such as is used in making ice cream, has been found effective."

"When the salt is applied the heating plant immediately will become filled with dense white fumes, which will penetrate to every part of the furnace, smoke flues and chimney, and in less than an hour the effects of the salt will disappear. Then brighten up the fire again and repeat the operation two or more times until all heating surfaces have been entirely cleaned."

"Later, one application in the salt treatment once or twice a week will keep the heating surface in a clean and efficient condition. The chemical action will not attack iron or be in any way detrimental to the heating plant."

SMALL NUMBER MEN CONVICTED

Only About 5,000 Out of an Army of 4,000,000 Given Severe Sentences

MANY OF THESE SENTENCES SHORTENED

Half Number of Men Had Criminal Records Before Entering the Army

New York, April 10.—Heavy court-martial sentences of life imprisonment or such terms as 20 and 30 years are reduced to a minimum of months by a plan permitted under army regulations which has been introduced into the disciplinary barracks at Governors Island by the commandant, Colonel John E. Hunt. The plan involves a far-reaching scheme by which the soldier prisoner may not only return to civil life free from the stigma of imprisonment but better equipped physically and educationally to take up the battle of life.

To explain the working of the scheme and of the care of prisoners a party of newspapermen were invited to visit the island under the auspices of the national war work council of the Y. M. C. A. The council is co-operating with the military authorities in the educational work being carried among the prisoners.

There are between 600 and 700 prisoners at present in the barracks. Some of the men are from overseas and about half of them are serving sentences for military offenses, including one life term, several of 20 years and a few for less periods. What these sentences really mean was explained by Colonel Hunt.

"In practice," he said, "men serving 10, 20, 30-year, or life sentences are really sentenced to indeterminate terms. When a man comes here we make a careful investigation of his whole life from boyhood. All the circumstances involving his offense are reviewed and if his general record is and has been good he can apply for 'restoration' after three months. Such an application is rarely refused, and within six months from the time he was convicted he may rejoin his regiment to complete his service and receive an honorable discharge."

"There has been a good deal of criticism of the heavy sentences imposed by courts martial, but I believe it has been largely due to the public misunderstanding of the facts. Such sentences have been imposed purely because of their deterrent effect, and I am convinced that they have saved thousands of young men from getting into trouble."

The extraordinary small proportion of men convicted of serious offenses in the American forces was emphasized by Col. Hunt. "Out of about 4,000,000 men who joined the colors there are only about 5,000 in the three military prisons at Leavenworth, Alcatraz and here. Under the draft system we get into the army a great number of men with criminal records in civil life. We know 5,000 of these by name, and half of that number are included in the 5,000 men in the three military prisons," Colonel Hunt said.

One of the principal features of the rehabilitation scheme introduced into Fort Jay under Colonel Hunt is the "honor system." Two companies have been formed of prisoners with good records and these men are put on their honor, without any interference from the prison officials. They occupy a barracks apart from the fort, work under their own non-commissioned officers and even detail their own guards.

Under the educational portion of the prison curriculum, largely in the hands of Y. M. C. A. officials, classes are held in various trades, such as printing, rug-making, laundry work and electrical installation. There are also classes of a purely scholastic nature, ranging from elementary education to business English, salesmanship and French.

ENLISTED WHEN 15.

Burlington Boys Expected Home Soon—One Cited for Conspicuous Bravery.

Burlington, April 10.—Bingham LaBell of this city, cited for conspicuous bravery, and his uncle, Leonard Benway of the Winoski road, probably the youngest Vermonters in the military service, being only 17 years old at the present time and only 15 when they enlisted, are expected to arrive home very soon.

Private LaBell has arrived in this country with a casual company. His citation was for his bravery in running 200 yards across No Man's Land and under a heavy fire from the enemy, picking up a comrade who was mortally wounded and carrying him to the American trenches. "The wounded man died soon afterwards. LaBell has a brother in the service."

Private Benway is a member of the 101st ammunition train of the 26th division. He has two brothers in the service.

ISOLATION ROOM OPENED.

Y. W. C. A. Cares, Without Charge, for Homeless Girls.

An "isolation room" is the newest thing at Y. W. C. A.'s throughout the country.

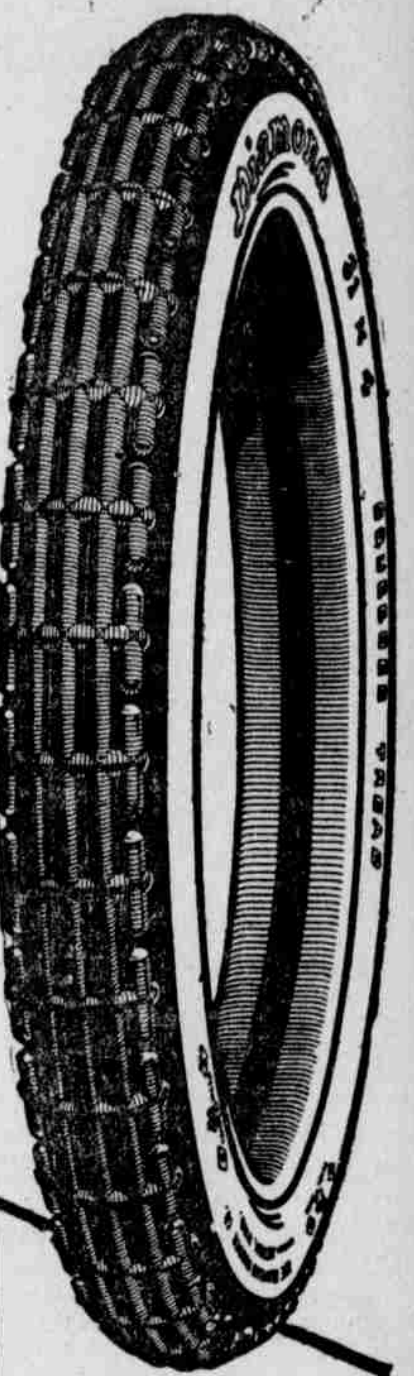

It began at Rockford, Ill., when such a room was planned for the girl who contracted a contagious disease, who was away from home and, unable to pay hospital bills, had no place to go for medical care.

Members of girls' clubs in Rockford subscribed $500 toward the maintenance of the room.

An entire convalescent ward has been added to the Young Woman's Christian association home at Rockville, D. C., 12 miles out of Washington, where hundreds of girls who have been victims of influenza are taken, on release from the hospital, to convalesce. Since she must pay for her room in the city in order to keep it, the patient is only charged for her meals.

An Endless Chain.

Here is the endless chain of recommendations for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. There is hardly a town or village in the United States from which women have not written letters telling of health restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If you are suffering from some female trouble, ask your neighbor if she has ever used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. In many cases you will find that she has regained health by its use and will recommend it to you.—Adv.
